This promises to be fun day with a major tree planting celebration along the banks of the Kororoit Creek and it is hoped that in excess of 1500 indigenous trees and shrubs will be planted.

Edvaro and his accordion will be in attendance entertaining the kids (and adults) and doling out lollies to ensure sugar levels are maintained.

Friends of Lower Kororoit Creek will be on hand to instruct volunteers on the subtleties of planting and ensure the safety and security of all those attending. During the course of the morning, tea & coffee will be available to the planters. A BBQ will be provided at the end of the planting courtesy of Altona Lions.
